Light & Mood

By Jane Ericksen and Noeline Eichhorn

Jane Ericksen

I have always been inspired to portray people and their relative situations. Since my teenage years I completed work in pastels but in the last 5 years have worked primarily in oils.

I focus on the depiction of light to portray the relative mood of the subject and have developed a style most reminiscent of the impressionist movement. My aim is to transport people to a moment in time that enables them to reflect on their own experiences. This exhibition is a small study that conveys the various moods in the human and natural worlds.

This is my first exhibition and I hope you identify with the pieces displayed. Jane can be contacted on 0447 200 525

Noeline Eichhorn

I have been painting for 15 years and this is my fourth exhibition. I paint with acrylic on canvas and my style is realism. This exhibition focuses on light. The way light captures a mood and gives us an instant relationship with a still life, flower or landscape.

I feel a painting should be instantly appealing to the buyer. They need to have a connection with the subject and an appreciation of the style in which it has been executed. It is a very personal relationship we have with the art we buy.

I hope this exhibition is enjoyed by the viewers as much as I enjoyed producing it.
